Only a Boy.

Only a boy, with his noise and fun,
The vericet mystery under the sun;
As brimful of mischief, and wit and glee
As ever a human frame can be,
And as hard to manage as—ah! ah, me!
Tis hard to tell,
Yet we love him well.

Yet we love him well.

Only a boy, with his fearful tread,
Who cannot be driven, but must be led;
Who troubles the neighbors' dogs and cats,
And tears more clothes and spoils more hate
Than would stock a store
For a year or more.

Only a boy, with his wild, strange ways,
With his idle hours on busy days;
With his due remarks and odd replies,
Sometimes toolish and sometimes wise,
Often brilliant for one of his size,
As a meteor hurled
From the planet world.

Only a boy who will be a man.

Only a boy who will be a man.

If Nature goes on with her first great plan—
If water, or fire, or some fatal snare
Compire not to rob us of this, our heir,
Our blessing, our trouble, our rest, our care,
Our torment, our joy,

"Only a boy!"

Hints to Writers.

Hints to Writers.

The diphthongs ei and is.—Some people are frequently at a loss how to spell words containing these diphthongs, when they have the sound of long e; for in some words the e comes before the i, as in receive, and in others the scomes before the e, as in believe. A careful writer would not like to be caught spelling receive, re-ei-ei-e, or spelling believe, b-el-ei-v-e; and to tell in what words of this class e comes before i, and in what ones the i should be written before the e, without looking them up, is often quite a matter of perplexity. Nor will it satisfy all minds to do as we once heard a teacher direct, that is, make both letters like i and put a dot midway between them, so that it may be taken to belong to either. No one should be satisfied with less than making every letter distinct, and then putting the right letter in the right place every time. The following general rule may be given in reference to these words, which will perhaps assist some minds to remember their proper spelling:—

1. After s, and c having the sound of s, e always comes before i, as, receive, deceive, perceive, conceit, eeil, seignior, seine, and seize, with their derivatives and compounds. To this there is one exception, in the word siege, in which, following s, the i comes before e.

2. In all other words of this class, i always comes before e; as, believe, belief, relieve, relief, mischief, handker-chief, fief, field, fiend, fierce, frieze, grief, mien, piece, pier, pierce, priest, reprieve, and yield, with their compounds and derivatives. To this there are two exceptions; leisure, and teil, a tree.

and if the reader will fix it firmly in his mind, he will find that it will enable him to master thoroughly a numerous class of words, which otherwise he will be liable to misspell.

Abbreviations.—In writing for the press, use no unnecessary abbreviations. Never write Sab. for Sabbath, nor comfor committee; for, (1) it makes additional work at the office of publication to write them out; (2) it seems like abusing the noble institution of the Sabbath and the royal law of which it is a part; and (3) it looks shiftless in the manuscript. Never write the for though, thro for through, etc. Write such words out in full, just as they should stand in print. Never abbreviate the name of a State, unless some place, county, town, city, or district in the State is named in connection with it. Thus, it would be proper to say, I spent a week in Chicago, Ill.; but not to say, I labored a long time in Ill., and then in Wis., and then in Minn., etc. In such cases the names of the States should be written in full. So we should not say, The Mich. Board of Health, The Vt. Legislature, etc., except in statistical or index work, where the shortest abbreviations are allowable.

though the contrary was once believed— that medicines which produce violent ef-lects are unsuited to other than desperate fects are unsuited to other than desperate emergencies. In other words, that superpotent remedies are calculated to weaken and injure the system rather than reform its irregularities. Among medicines of debilitating effect are cathartics and cholagogues which copiously and abruptly evacuate the bowels. Because it does not do stals, 'Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is preferable to the drenching class of puratives. Painless in its effects, it is sufficiently active to remedy chronic constipation. It relieves by invigorating the intestines, and enables, not forces, them to perform the duty imposed upon them by nature. Premoting the searction of bile in normal quantities by its healthfully stimulating effect upon the liver, it is eminently condructe to digestion, and contributes in no small degree to keep the bowels regular.

PARIS, August 16. Victor Tissot has published an extract from a letter, which he asserts wife, Princess Dalgoufoki, after the wife, Princess Dalgouroki, after the Berlin Congress. In the letter the Czar says: "The Congress has been an immense misfortune to Russia. Germany sold as Russian statesmen, who had full power and were not equal to their important mission. Bamarck has revenged himself for the support I gave France during my stay in Berlin." The letter is regarded here as confirmatory of revelations recently made by General Leflo.

WASHINGTON, August 17. As the St. Louis, Chicago and Cin cinnati express train on the B. & O. road, due here at 6:20 A. Justice Field says he thinks Congress will readily do it whenever it is asked by the people of Southern California. There is soon to be a breaking up of many of the State lines of this western country, and Nevada lines will not be the exception.

who had been indicted by the Grand Jury. Terry asked for instructions for the guidance of himself and Crook in the matter. A telegram was sent in reply directing him to hold troops in readiness to move at a moment's notice.

The War Department has received no special information of the reported engagements between Colorow's band and the Sheriff's posse, and the military authorities don't feel authorized to order troops to assist the civil authorities in their efforts to arrest the Indians. In the event of the defeat of the posse and Colorow's taking to the war path, General Crook, who is near at hand, has full authority to take any needful action to protect the people. In view of the absence of any official information of an outbreak the War department officials are disposed to characterize some of the reports received as exaggerations.

HARRISBURG, Pa., August 17.
The Republican State Convention was called to order by Chairman Cooper, of the State Committee, this morning. Walter R. Lyons was morning. Walter R. Lyons was elected Temporary Chairman. He thanked the Convention for the honor, and said this was a skirmish of the great battle of 1888, and it therefore became the party to act wisely and well; to see that the party platform was such as the great fight of the future could be made upon with safety. Wm. B. Hart was nominated for State Treasurer by acclamation.

respecting the Route

H. M. Yerington and D. A. Bender were passengers on last Tuesday's train, bound for the terminus of the C. & C. road, their object being to make a trip over the ground where it is proposed to have the C. & C. run to connect with Los Angeles. Mr. Yerington says that the Owens River Valley country can produce everything in the shape of fruits, vegetables, grain, etc., in vast quantities, but that the farmers have a very limited market. The building of this new piece of road will open up considerable new country, and thereby make a better market for country produce. It will also bring into Owens River Valley and the country adjacent more immigration, which, if it is the right kind, will be of advantage to the State. In all probability this new road will be completed some time this Winter, and this will give Nevada a direct line almost from its northern to its southern boundary.—Lyon Times. the C. & C. run to connect with Los

A TRIP TO OBOVILLE.

OROVILLE, August 10. idents said it was very hot, and we agreed with them. But in spite of heat and low water we took the train that leaves Sacramento for Red Bluff at 2:50 P. M., bound to see the sights of the great Sacramente Valley. We leave the main line of the C. P. R. R. at Junction. a small but flonristing town some 18 miles from Sacramento, and proceed north. The valley here is very wide, and the smoky atmosphere, at this peried of the year, gives it the appearance of being boundless. The country from Junction to Wheatland, a distance of 22 miles, is very uninteresting, being a parched and treeless plain, over which the hot winds have full swing.

The speed of the train, as it moved along, seemed to aggravate the heat and fan it into a flame, for the heat and fan it into a flame, for it burned as it came into the car 250 feet above the level of the sea, and it and is as level as a floor on its sumwindow. It was a dry heat and it made the passengers dry. From Wheatland the country changed somewhat. The soll seemed more productive and the live oak relieved the barrenness. The air grew a little cooler, so we could take our handkerchiefs from our

In two hours' time we were at Marysville, a very quiet and peace-ful burg, situated in a rather damp spot and surrounded by a Chinese wall that was built by the ancients in the time of the floods. Marysville is irrigated by the Sacramento and Yuba rivers. It is a very healthful city, as some of the ancients who built the wall are living cients who built the wall are living there yet will testify. Marysville at one time imported large quantities of quinine, but of late years the demand has fallen off considerably. There is better drainage and the people have quit shaking. I asked one of the Aldermen of the city what he called the wall that surrounded them. He said it was called a levee, because it gave them a chance to levy taxes to maintain it and the Alderman. But Marysville is a pretty place. It used to be a seaport town, but the advent of that grasping monopoly of a rail-

Pressed the Limit.

A party of Renoi es went out to Laughton's Spring recently to enjoy the luxury of a plunge. It seems that the time allowed bathers is two hours. The landlord waited patiently until four bours had elapsed, when he is reported to have called a halt, as it were, remarking that there must have been an unusual amount of slickens on those folks, if four hours and hot water were insufficient to purify them.

Trustees Gusted: Others Elected. A meeting of the North Truckee Drain Dito 1 Company was field in the District Court this afternoon. The effect of the meeting was to oust the old trustees and to elect the new. Two of the old trustees consisting of J. P. Vanmeter and L. W. valueless heap after the gold had been extracted, will from now on be devoted to orange culture and fruit raising. The next morning after our arrival opened cool and bright. The air was not the least chilly, but it was soft and cool and delightfully refreshing.

We took a carriage and dashled delightfully refreshing.

We took a carriage and desided to see the country. The principal place of interest here is the Thermali o colony, which is separated from the town of Oroville by the Feather river, a stream at this time of the year larger than the Truckee at full tide. A fine large bridge spans this river and makes the op-posite side easily accessible. On the Thermalito side the soil has been mined or hydraulicked, as they term it here, so as to leave a bluff 80 feet high. The lands of the col-ony commence at this bluff and run back over the slightly rolling country some distance. The soil is the common red soil of the foot-hills, somewhat gravelly, but very productive for fruit of all kinds. This bench land runs back for three or four miles to Table Mountain, that Bret Harte wrote so much about. This mountain is very picturesque, as is the whole landscap hereabouts. It rises over 1,000 fee mit. It is its resemblance to a ta-ble that gives it its name. The view from most any portion of Thermalito is both grand and beautiful. The timbered mountains rising to the east, the flowing river, skirted with foliage of all kinds, the vast Sacramento Valley, stretching out to the west, give a charm that is very fascinating. Thermalito is as yet an uncultivated pasture, excepting 40 acres which are set out with orange trees and look extremely well. Several streets have been laid out and cut through that portion of the colony that is timbered. Water is already piped to the land and mains are being laid in all the principal streets.

There will be plenty of water to irrigate, as the company bas already spent $150,000 on water alone. Land is held in the colony at present at $100 per acre. A townsite has been laid off and lots are being has been laid off and lots are being sold at $250 for corner and $200 for inside lots. Several houses are being built on these lots and many acres are being sold. Inside of a year property will be selling for double the price it is now. There is everything here to induce people to sattle. The soil is excellent. Oranges flourish as well as lemons. Fruits of all kinds grow without any trouble whatever. The place any trouble whatever. The place is free from pests of any kind, and the climate is simply glorious. It is not so hot as some think. There is always a cool breeze and the shade affords comfort without fear of taking celd. The colony is in

A widow who had 40 acres in fruit and who did not want to take care of the place leased it for three years to some Chinamen for $1,800 years to some Chinamen for $1,800 a year. At the expiration of the lease several others wasted the place and she finally leased it for five years at $3,000 a year, and the Chinaman who leased it cleared over all expenses $9,000 the first year. He still has the lease and is getting rich. He saved the peach pits and sold them for $300 that year. This is a great fruit country and no scale bugs on the orchards. We saw an orange tree about 20 years old in Oroville about 20 years old in Oroville that served as a shade tree for a twostory house, that last year produced 2,500 oranges and is loaded to the 2,500 oranges and is loaded to the guards this year.

Oroville is an orange grove. The climate is just right for their production and oranges are very profitable. The belt in which they flourish is narrow and limited, consequently land that will produce them is valuable. It is nothing for an orange orchard to pay $500 an acr; every year. I do not care to put all the stories I heard in print. I might be accused of prevaricating, and I don't want that reputation. We were very much pleased with Oroville and its surroundings. It has a great country to draw from. It has mining, grazing, agriculhas a great country to draw from. It has mining, grazing, agricultural, lumber, fruit and other interests in its immediate vicinity. It only needs vim and energy to awaken it from its sleep and it will soon awaken. It is moving now. The boom is not here yet but its roll is heard in the air and it will be upon us before long. With its resources, beautiful scenery, productive soil and delightful climate, this country is bound to claim the attention of capital and that is now flooding California.

Mr. Dunphy, the Cattle King. Mr. Wm. Dunphy, the cattle king, went on to Elko this morning, accompanied by the two young Hinkley boys, of Oakland.
Mr. Dunpby stated here that he had something over 30,000 head of cattle roaming over the hills of Nevada and the neighboring Territories, and that he would ship a few thousand to 'Frisco in a short time. In reply to a question as to Governor Bartiett's condition, he said it was critical, indeed. He also stated that the excitement over real estate transactions in San Jose beat anything he ever witnessed in California. young Hinkley boys, of Oakland.

RENO WATER.

A Scientific Analysis of that Supplied the Town and of Hunter Creek.

RENO WATER COMPANY. OFFICE OF C. M. FASSETT,

RENO, NEV., June 78, 1887.)

T. K. HYMERS, ESQ., CHAIRMAN BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—DRAR SIR:
In accordance with your request I have made examinations of three samples of water furnished by you, with special reference to such impurities as would render it unfit for domestic use, and beg leave to present the following report:
Sample No. 1 was taken from the river
about ten miles above town, at the point where the Highland ditch takes it supply;
sample No. 2 was taken from the main reservoir, four feet from the surface, near where the water used in the town is taken; sample No. 3 was taken from the Highland ditch just before it empties into the main reservoir. The following is a tabulated statement of the results of the tests made:

(In parts per million.)

(In grains per gallon.) SAMPLES. | No. 1 | No. 2 | No. 3

The ammonia found indicates the proportion of contamination from animal sources, such as sewage, decomposing animal matter, etc., and in Nos. I and s is in as smal proportion as can be expected in a stream which flows through as many towns as the Truckee; while in No. 3 it is in three times the quantity as in the others, and above the limit of safety—faxed by most authorities at .08 to .12 parts free ammonia, and .18 to .20 parts albumenoid ammonia per million of water.

second table shows the results oh The second table shows the results ob-tained from careful evaporation of the water; drying and ignition of the residue in platinum crucibles, and proves that the water of the Truckee is as free from deleterious matters, prejudicial to health, as that supplied to almost any city of the Union.

Union.

Impurities resulting from sawdust in the river would be shown in the table under the head of "organic solids," but the results obtained show that the amount of such matter is very small; much less, indeed, than is contained in many natural springs, some of which carry five grains or more of organic matter to the gallon just where they bubble from the earts.

The comparatively large amount of

from the earth.

The comparatively large amount of total solids in sample No. 3 is accounted for by the fact that the sample was taken from the ditch the second day the water was running in it, after it had been empty for a few day, the water naturally being turbid from fine particles of silt taken up from the bed of the ditch.

The samples all show an alkaline reaction, but so slight as to be immaterial; being less than one-tenth of the limit or safety, placed at "an alkalinity greater than that produced by adding one part,

by weight, of caustic soda to one thousand parts of distilled water."

These various results show:
First—That the water supplied to the town through the main reservoir is not sufficiently pure to be used for domestic purposes with safety.
Secondly—That the water in the river is reasonably pure and wholesome, and Thirdly—That the water supplied to the town receives the greater part of its impurities in the main reservoir and its approaches.

protectes.

As applicable to the sawdust question, I quote the following extract from an article on water by Professor S. P. Sadtler, Ph. D., Professor of Chemistry in the University of Pennsylvania, etc., etc. University of Fennsylvania, etc., etc.
"Organic matter may be derived from a vegetable source, such as leaf mould, and the decomposition products of wood, in which case it is practically harmless, or it may be derived from animal sources, in which case it almost always causes a serious impurity.

impurity."

A more striking contrast in the relations between ruler and subject is not conceivable than that now seen in two of the great cities of Europe. The Czar of Russia is in Warsaw, the capital of Poland, protected by the services of spies and an imposing array of military. A thousand arrests have been made during his stay in that city, but notwithstanding every precaution, and the risk of certain death to any unauthorized person approaching the autocrat, nobody would be surprised to hear that he had fallen a victim to violence. A section of his wretched and disaffected people, no one can say how numerous, nor how near his person at any time—some even in the ranks of his guards—are thirsting for his blood, and his appearance in public at all is an act of courage which contrasts with the seclusion of the earlier part of his reign. Shifting the scene to Naples, in sunny Italy, where hundreds of people are dying of cholera every day, King Humbert IV. is at the head of the noble men and women who, at great risk to personal safety and their life, but with confidence in the good will and affection of the people, visit them in their stricken homes, and by large gifts and gentle ministrations, do their utmost to assuage the horrors of cholera in the towns and cities afflicted with it. The meanest and filthiest districts of the lovely and amiable Queen Marguerite is at her husbands's side in this labor of love, a ministering angel to the needs of the poorest of her subjects. What gain follows the moral influence of kingly and queenly example in these instances will never be known. The whole royal family of Italy, excepting the children, and the most cultured and the best of the sons and daughters of the nation, vie with the amiable people at its head in acts of practical beneficence which dignify human nature, and relieve, with heavenly beauty, the dark horrors of the pestilence.

The Dakota Cyclone.

The Daketa Cyclone.

The peculiarities of the recent cyclone are coming in. Twelve miles northeast of Huron a man named Briggs had thirty-two head of cattle killed by being blown into the James River and drowned, or thrown on the ground and mashed. He had six horses killed in the same way. Eleven hundred bushels of threshed oats in his granary were all swept away. His wife is a well-known butter-maker for the Huron market. The last three months she and her servant packed all the butter they had made in crocks and stored it in the cellar, several hundred pounds in all. When they saw the storm coming they went into the cellar and crouched in the northeast corner of it, the direction from which the cyclone was coming. It carried away and destroyed the house, scooped up every crock of butter, carried them away, and they cannot be found. The women were unhurt.

William Felkey had two horses in his stable, also a colt. The stable, horses, and colt are yet to hear from. Myron unhurt.

William Felkey had two horses in his stable, also a colt. The stable, horses, and colt are yet to hear from. Myron Kenney had two harnessed horses and a stable halter wafted away. The horses were seen to go up in the air and come down a long distance off. About two hours afterward they walked back home with all the harness off but the collars.

S. N. Davis saw seven regular cyclones in the air at the same time, ten miles away from Huron. The Rev. George A. Cressey lives a mile from the business center of Huron. The cyclone that struck near here was in plain sight from his house, a mile distant. He says no wind was stirring outside the storm belt, and there were no other clouds in the sky. At times two or three cyclonic clouds were in view. All had a special motion, and looked exactly like an ordinary tin funnel. The cloud gradually rose and fell, going southeast. While in sight there appeared to be a double funnel, the outer one black and the inner one white. When the lower end touched the ground everything it touched was destroyed.—Inter-Ocean.

Teach the Boys and Girls to Work.

They will make the men and women of twenty-five years hence; and just as they grow up so they will be, industrious, moral, and religious, or the reverse. Schools of learning are popular and valuable, and should not be neglected; but it that the state of the state of the successors.

And it is hereby ordered that this notice be published in the RENG EVENING GAZETTE, a new-paper printed and published in said Washoe county, for at least five days before said meeting. schools of learning are popular and valuable, and should not be neglected; but it should not be forgotten that idleness is as destructive to all that is good as ignorance. Here is a family containing a boy and a girl, both nearing majority. The girl is a pattern of industry, neat, careful, and economical, not only in the house, but in the garden as well; and cannot fail to be a blessing wherever her lot may be cast. The boy, on the other hand, has learned little but what he has found on the streets, knows no trade, and has no means of subsistence when he comes to be of age. The necessary absence of the father for a large part of the time partially accounts for this, but does not excuse it. If there are many cases like the latter, is it to be wondered at that there are tramps?

Nature's provision against the consequences of a "chill," and for the prevention of a "cold," are sneezing and shivering. A violent fit of sneezing often saves a chilled body the consequences of the nerve depression or "shock" to which it has been subjected, and this shock may in its first impression be very limited in its area; for example, the small extent covered by a draught of cold air rushing through the crevice of a door or window. The nerve centers are roused from their "collapse" by the commotion or explosive influence of the sneeze. If sneezing fails, nature will try a shiver, which sets mechanically in this way. If this fails, the effects are likely to be very serious, and bad consequences may ensue. The cold is slight when sneezing suffices to recover the nervous system quickly from its depression, and grave when even strong shivering fails to do so.

Some sixty years since a Bank of England £5 note was paid into a Liverpool merchant's office in the ordinary course of business. On holding it up to the light to test its genuineness, the cashier naw some faint red marks upon it. Examining them closely, he traced some half-effaced words between the printed lines and upon the margin of the note, written, apparently, in blood. After a long and minute scrutiny, he made out the words: "If this note shall fall into the hands of John Dean, of Longhill, near Carlisle, he will learn hereby that his brother is languishing a prisoner in Algiers." The merchant immediately communicated with Mr. Dean, and he lost no time in bringing the matter before the Government. Inquiries were set on foot, and the unfortunate man was discovered and ransomed.
